

Greetings!

Composites One is continuously looking for ways to improve how we communicate and deliver information on products and pricing. As we approach the New Year, we are preparing for an enhancement to ensure that you are receiving notifications per your preferences.

In preparation for this change, here's what you need to know:

- Your current preferences in b2bcomposites.com will remain the same for 'Price Change Notifications', and you have the ability to change those settings at any time.
- An additional type of notification has been created, 'Process and Product Change Notification'. Your current price change settings will automatically be applied to this new notification.

If you wish to update your settings at any time, please visit b2bcomposites.com and choose "Your Preferences" on the left sidebar.

Next, choose how you would like to receive your notifications, whether it be sent via email or mailed. Or perhaps you wish to receive no communication and in that case, do not check either box.
